The Judgeship Fight.

Senator Saxon W. Holt, of Newport News, nominated Mr. Manly H. Barnes, or New Kont county, for judge of the Fourteenth Circuit. His address was a handsome tribute to the New Rent genium, and was warmly applauded. Mr. Steinnes, of Newport News, and Mr. C. M. Wallace, of Richmond, seconded the nomination of Mr. Barnes. Dr. R. S. Powell, of Brunswick county, placed the name of Mr. Tyler, of Charles City county before the caucus in a speech by turns humorous and cloquent, and certainly the most entertaining of the entire evening. He was loudly applauded. Mr. Adams, of Charlotte, who is one of the best evoking men and one of the oaste and most finent speakers among the new members, made his midden speech in a caucus, seconding the nomination of Mr. Tyler.

Capt. Arthur O. Sullivan, of Montgomery, doorkeeper of the House of Delegates when the Readjusters were in control, and who was one of the best known Democratic officials in the State, died at his home in Christiansburg yesterday. The following special was received here from Christiansburg has night:

"Arthur O. Sullivan is dend and the death of no man could cast such a gloom over the community and bring such universal regret and sorrow. Just a more more than a month ago he was brought back from the Johns Hopkins Hospital, without having received any material benefit. His friends feared this meant his ailment was incurable, bur as he would raily from sensons of weak ness, hope would revive that this usoful and honorable life might be spared. His diseases were, however, toop deep root ed. The liver and stomach wege involved and he suffered from nervous depression.

Mr. Duke, of Albemarle, and then Mr. Stubbs, of Gloucester, offered a set of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, expressing the regret of the House and naming a committee to attend the funeral.

The resolution offered by Mr. Stubbs was as follows:

The sad intelligence has just been received of the death of Arthur O. Sullivan, Esq., the first doorkeeper of the House of Delegates; be it, therefore, Resolved, first. That since his election as first doorkeeper of the House in 1869, he has been elected every session up to the present time except, the sessions of 1851-82, and rendered himself popular with all of the members and discharged every duty with promptness, cheerfulness, efficiency and ability.

Second, That his devotion to Virginia and his gallantry as a Confederate soldier was shown on many bloody battlefields and he received a wound at the battle of the Wilderness which caused him to limp through life with but one limb, and thereby strengthened the Confederate ite that exists between old veterns of 1851-55.

Third, That we moura to-day the loss of a true friend, a man of high character and a noble Virginia gentleman. Fourth, That the speaker of the House appoint a committee of time to attend his funeral, at Christiansburg, and that the assistant clerk of the House accompany the committee, and that the committee select a suitable floral design to be placed on the grave of the deceased.

Fifth, That as a further evidence of tespect, the House do now adjourn.

Captain Sullivan was used in many succeeding campaigns, especially in Southwest Virginia, and beside the qid one-legged veteran was a portrait of the big, burly negro who had defeated him.

When nominating him for doorkeeper of the Constitutional Convention, General Rufus A. Ayers referred to the old here as the "platform of the Democratic party in Southwest Virginia for the past twenty years." Captain Sullivan was appointed fertilizer inspector for the Sixth District when that office was created several years ago, and he held it as long as he desired the place. desired the place.

AT THE ACADEMY.

Melody and mirth were promised Richmond theatre-goers in the muscial extravaganza, "The Runaways," which was presented at the Academy last night, and not one of the large audience that witnessed the excellent production will deny that the promise was fully kept.

Mr. Arthur Dunn, the star, is ably supported by a clever lot of people, and the seenery and costumes are as pretty as a brilliant imagination can depict.

The production was on a manifecent scale, and the audience that truned out was such a one as is usually seen in Richmond when something "really good" is billed. But the people who filled the seats last hight were not alone manythey were appreciative of the fun. This always helps the players, and last night encourage managers to send more No. 1 companies on the road,

New High Record Prices.

EXCITEMENT CONSIDERABLE

Not Since Civil War Has Price of Cotton Been so High-Corn and Oats Affected.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Cotton price. tended by considerable activity and ex-citement, but the market soon became was more largely for professional tha for public account. The opening was firm, at an advance of from 13 to 23 points, following cables, about ten points hetter than expected, reports of a continued good spot demand and estimates pointing towards continued light receipts. The initial advances, however, added to the gains of the last two days, meant a net advance of nearly three-fourths of a cent a pound.

Around midday the market developed a reactionary tendency, under liquidation, with March seving down to 14.20, May to 14.40 and July to 14.40, these being declines from the best of about 13273 points. In the late trading bidding for blocks of five thousand and ten thousand bales rallied the market, which, towards the close, reached about the previous high record. The market at the close was steady, 2 points lower on the new crop months to an advance of eight to thirteen points on the nearer positions. Sales were estimated at 50,000 bales.

New Records Established.

New Records Established.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW OILLEANS, Jan. 20.—Prices for cotton futures to-day reached the highest point since the war. Liquidation was heavy, but offerings were readly absorbed. It is generally considered that the market is as healthy as it has been at any time this season. Prices showed advances of from 16 to 20 points, and although recession shaved off from 16 to 14 points. There were still above the close of yesterday. At the highest levels of the day new records for the season and for the period since war times were established.

EXCITED ACTIVITY.

May Wheat Touches New High Mark Above 92.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—May wheat touched a new high mark—92 1-4 cents—to-day, a ret main for the day of 2 1-4 cents, and 16 cents higher than the average price last fall. The bent wheat situation as regards prices is highly artificial, as is shown by the character of the trade which caused so share a gain in prices. Armour is credited with a long line of fifteen million bushels, contracted for May delivery. Local contract stocks apparamount interest. Private messages paramount interest. Frivate messages received here to-day indicate that a considerable quantity of the short wheat on the Armour books was put out by Eastern people.

May corn and May oats, control of which is generally thought to be closely centralized, also advanced sharply to-day.
